The Department of Pathology at Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine seeks a full-time non-tenure-eligible Clinician-Educator Cytopathologist at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or full Professor.

The Cytopathology Division is directed by Dr. Ritu Nayar and has an annual volume of 40,000 that includes a very active fine needle aspiration/core biopsy service. The closely aligned Surgical Pathology Division offers subspecialty sign-out and both interface with other Departmental Divisions, including Hematopathology and Diagnostic Molecular Pathology. In addition to clinical responsibilities and research, faculty are expected to play an active role in teaching and training medical students, residents, and fellows. Candidates with subspecialty training in Surgical Pathology, Informatics, as well as other areas are encouraged to apply.

Applicants must hold MD or MD/PhD degrees and be board certified in AP or AP/CP and board certified/eligible in Cytopathology from the American Board of Pathology, as well as be eligible for an unrestricted medical license in the State of Illinois. Rank and remuneration will be determined by qualification and experience.

Interested applicants should submit an application and include letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and names of three to five references via Northwestern University’s Faculty Recruitment Website.

Northwestern University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes, including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States.
