Renal Pathologist

The Department of Pathology at Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine seeks a full-time non-tenure-eligible Clinician-Educator at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor. Responsibilities include clinical service on the renal biopsy service to include native and transplant renal biopsies with associated ancillary studies. The renal biopsy service is growing, and currently analyzes approximately 1,200 renal biopsies annually. The Surgical Pathology division offers subspecialty sign-out and both areas work closely with other divisions of the department. In addition to clinical responsibilities and research, faculty are expected to play an active role in the teaching and training of medical students, residents, and fellows. Strong and effective interpersonal and communication skills, and a commitment to excellent patient care are required.

Qualified candidates will hold an MD or MD/PhD and be board certified in AP or AP/CP from the American Board of Pathology. The candidate must be eligible for an unrestricted medical license in the state of Illinois. Fellowship training in renal pathology is required and subspecialty area of surgical pathology is desirable. Rank and remuneration determined by qualification and experience.

The start date is negotiable and the position will remain open until filled.

When applying, please upload a CV and cover letter describing your interest and alignment with the position via Northwestern University’s Faculty Recruiting Website.
