

The top of the page features a large, golden seal of Northwestern University. The seal is circular with an open book in the center, surrounded by the words "NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY" and the year "1861". The seal is set against a background of a wooden surface.

Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine

Department of Pathology Presents

The Department of Pathology at Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine seeks a full-time non-tenure-eligible Clinician-Educator at the rank of Assistant Professor or above.

Primary responsibilities are to serve as Pathologist on staff at the Ann & Robert H. Lurie Children's Hospital of Chicago, including participation in the evaluation and sign out of general pediatric surgical pathology and autopsy specimens.

Qualified candidates will possess a DO or MD degree, Board Certification in Pediatric Pathology (preferred), and a medical license, or eligibility for, in the State of Illinois.

The start date is negotiable, and the position will remain open until filled.

When applying, please upload a CV and cover letter describing your interest and alignment with the position.

The expected base pay range for this position is $250,000 - $450,000.

Northwestern University has provided a pay range representing its good faith estimate of what the university reasonably expects to pay for the position. The pay offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors including (but not limited to) the experience and qualifications of the selected candidate including years since terminal degree, training, and field or discipline; departmental budget availability; internal equity; and external market pay for comparable jobs.

Benefits

At Northwestern, we are proud to provide meaningful and competitive benefits. Visit us at <https://www.northwestern.edu/hr/benefits/index.html> to learn more.

When applying, please upload a CV and cover letter describing your interest and alignment with the position.